8. Personality and religion

Since the 1970s Leslie J Francis has undertaken a series of studies exploring the connection between established models of personality and aspects of religion. This research tradition has concentrated specifically on the three dimensional model of personality proposed by Hans Eysenck, and has also used the 16 factor model proposed by Cattell, the big five factor model, and psychological type theory. (see also Psychological type and religion).

Chapters

Articles

